

Children's Ministry

Hi Everybody!

This past week has gone by in a whirlwind! We loved being with you every night for a very exciting and memorable VBS; I'm sure it was one of our best attended ever! I think even Bowser had a good time! There are probably thanks being said all over this bulletin, but I want to add my own anyway. The good people of this congregation have made a MASSIVE investment of time and effort to pull this off, and, as a parent of children who benefited so much from being here, I cannot say enough how grateful I am that they did it. This is a very blessed and loving congregation, and I am so happy to be a part of it! Thank you all for everything! Kids, if you had a good time, take a second to find your group leader, storyteller, snack helper, or some grown-up who you remember making it a little better, and just let them know you enjoyed what they did. I guarantee you will make their whole day!

Thank you all again; I hope you've had some rest and can see the tremendous value in what you've given this week. I don't think any other event we have here comes anywhere near to drawing in as many people who might not have a church home as this one. Even if they don't come back right away, years down the road, they may remember the kindness they were shown by some sweet people here at RRCC and may want to find out more about Jesus. You've planted a powerful seed, and God will know when to give it growth! Great job everyone!

Talk to you soon!

-Ryan

Staying Connected

WOW, WHAT A WEEK! Thank you to everyone who helped with the Hog Roast, Vacation Bible School, or the Food & Clothing Giveaway! So many helped in many different ways: mowed the grass, set up tents, moved tables and chairs, provided the pig, helped watch the pig, helped pull meat, helped set up food, helped clean dishes, brought cookies, picked up trash, cleaned the building, lead a group, helped in a group, lead crafts, participated in skits, helped with registration, took pictures, took attendance, put group leaders together, cut out decorations, painted decorations, put up decorations, helped clean up, brought your children or grandchildren, helped in the A/V room, prayed, helped unload food, helped pack food boxes, helped hand out food, helped hand out clothing and so much more that went unnoticed, but God knows your serving hearts and all those who went the extra mile last week!

OLYMPICS! If you didn’t know, the Games of the XXXIII Olympiad in Paris, France, began Friday. Every Olympic Games seems to produce an athlete for whom everyone can cheer. That was certainly the case in the Sydney 2000 Summer Olympics with Eric “The Eel” Moussambani, a then 22-year-old student from Equatorial Guinea (a country the size of the state of Maryland in western Africa). The country had formed its swimming federation less than a year before the Olympics and was able to send Eric to compete under a special program that permits poorer countries to participate even though their athletes don’t meet the customary standards. The federation had only two pools to use for training, and both were at hotels, which were much shorter than the Olympic standard 50 meters.

At the Olympics, Eric was poised to swim in his qualifying heat for the 100-meter freestyle. The starter’s gun sounded, and the two other swimmers in his heat were disqualified for hitting the water too quickly. Eric then had to swim alone in a one-man race against himself.

Eric Moussambani was, to use the words of an Associated Press story about his race, “charmingly inept.” He never put his head under the water’s surface. With ten meters left to the wall, he virtually came to a stop. Some spectators thought he actually might drown! His time was a dismal 1:52.72 (more than twice the time it took Aussie hero Ian Thorpe to swim his 100 meters).

But he’s a hero by anyone’s standards. He went to the Olympic Games. He competed with the world’s best. Though he didn’t win a medal, he won the hearts of millions simply by finishing the race. When a reporter asked Ian Thorpe about Eric Moussambani, he stated, “That’s what the Olympics are all about!” Later on, Eric would tell reporters, “I never swam the 100 meters before. All the clapping and all those voices making noise helped me finish.”

If you are discouraged today, listen to the cheers of the great cloud of witnesses urging you on. God’s own voice is in the chorus. You don’t have to out-duel anyone. Just finish your race!

BIBLE TRIVIA! I am hoping you will do some digging in God’s Word. Let me know the answer and the Bible verse! What is the first city mentioned in the Bible? How many cities were given to the Levites for their use? Which two men hid in a well to save their lives? What queen of Bible times is described by the epithet ‘that wicked woman’?

-Matt
